Medication and Injection Training

Medication and injection training is required for all patients undergoing any injection treatment protocols. The success of your medical therapy depends upon your ability to do home subcutaneous (small just below the skin) and/or intramuscular (deep in the hip or thigh) injections. These injections are given daily in the evenings at specific times. The clinic, hospital and (or) any other health facility cannot always provide these services because these sites are not open on Saturday and Sunday and/or the evening. Knowing how to provide these injections at home will greatly decrease the stress of your therapy, as well as decrease the cost of therapy.

You and your spouse or other support person must attend these training classes before cycle day one of your first treatment cycle. You may bring multiple support persons to the class. When you call to schedule this class please inform us of the number of support persons who will attend. If you have undergone therapy at another office or center you will most likely still be required to attend injection training here.

These classes are offered in a group setting at 1 pm, every Friday at the Center of Reproductive Medicine, 1015 Medical Center Blvd, Suite 2100, Webster, TX 77598. Working with others in a group setting truly does improve the learning experience and skill level. Please call the office to schedule an appointment.

The cost for this class is $25. If you have insurance benefits for infertility treatment this can be billed to your insurance with the appropriate co-pay. If it is determined to be a non-covered or not medically necessary benefit by your insurance provider you, the patient, will then be responsible for this fee.
